Dear John Contact,

After many years in the real estate industry, it is clear to us that people actually move, only when they feel completely ready to move. As Realtors®, we spend every day researching the market to keep you updated on current homes for sale and their market prices. But, we will not pressure you to move any sooner than you want to. We have a new and innovative tool available to our sellers that allows 24 hours, 7 days a week, online access to all the activity on their listing and provides direct communication to their agents. This service, unique to our area and company, is called ViewMyListing.com.

Dear John Contact,

Did you know that Thomas Edison holds over 1000 patents! Some of his inventions include the light bulb, the motion picture camera, and the phonograph. Edison said that the secret to his success with inventions was simply hard work. Edison said, "Genius is hard work, stick-to-itiveness, and common sense." If we choose to go by this definition, I think we could all be considered geniuses!

Selling your home should not require a genius, but it should benefit from the latest technology.

We offer our sellers the latest technology tools available in our industry. One such tool is ViewMyListing.com service. This unique service to our company and area allows for 24 hour, 7 days a week online access to the latest activity on your property. From showing feedback and advertising activity, to phone and internet inquiries, this service keeps sellers informed and involved. This service provides our sellers with the best possible experience while selling their home.

Please give us a call to see how ViewMyListing.com can assist you.

Seller #3 Letter

Dear John Contact,

When you feel like decorating your home, it's easy to look through magazines for ideas. But when you have to look at paint samples next to print samples to decide what each room should look like, it's a different story. Finding someone who knows what they're doing and has experience doing it ensures that the job is done right.

Our advice is to always call a professional. It's the expert's job to figure out all the details, execute the plan and then show you the results when it's all finished.

As a real estate agency, we believe that you should always hire a professional whether you are buying or selling a property.

As a professional, communication is key to all successful businesses! Any seller that has sold more than one home, knows all too well that their biggest complaint about their Realtor® was lack of communication. We have solved this issue by allowing our sellers 24 hour, 7 days a week internet access to the activity on their property through a service called ViewMyListing.com. ViewMyListing.com is a new and very unique service to our industry. We have invested in it because our seller's needs are most important to us.

Please contact us for a demonstration of how ViewMyListing.com can help you in the selling of your property.

Buyer #2 Letter

Dear John Buyer,

After so many years in the real estate industry, it has become clear to us that homes seem to have their own personalities. For someone to truly know a home they must know its history and background. Let us know if you have seen any homes that you would be interested in getting to know and we can set up a time for you to meet. Our company subscribes to ViewMyListing.com, a service unique to our area, which assists us in pricing our homes to sell.

We can assist with finding the best lending institution, the best inspection service, or any other service to make certain there will be no hidden surprises and all of this is at no cost to you.

Buyer #5 Letter

Dear John Buyer,

At one time in the real estate industry, it seemed that agents worked more for the seller than for the buyer.

When questions about a home's condition would be asked by a buyer, agents would shy away and point them in the direction of a home inspector to answer their questions because the agent was most likely working more for the seller. They wouldn't give the buyer much time or information.

In today's real estate industry we offer agents that are exclusive to buyers, who will answer every question you may have. This agent will also make sure that you know everything there is to know about the property you are interested in, especially price. ViewMyListing.com, an internet based service we utilize, assists us in setting the list price of our homes. This service is unique to our company in this market and ensures that our listings are priced right to sell faster.

Exclusive buyer representatives are just that, exclusive! Please contact us to find out what else our exclusive buyer representatives can do for you!

Buyer #13 Letter

Dear John Buyer,

I'm sure you have at one time or another passed up an open house you had planned on attending because you felt the house didn't look so nice from the outside. "Not a drive by" is what we would call this home in the real estate business. It means that there are more features inside the home than the outside lets you assume.

You could be driving by your dream home! Call us and let us do the digging to see if this home has more to offer than it seems to. We also use ViewMyListing.com, a service unique to our company and our area that assists us in pricing our homes to sell.

Did you know that Realtors fees are paid for by the seller not the buyer. We can make finding the perfect home easier. We can assist with finding the best lending institution, the best inspection service, or any other service to make certain that there will be no hidden surprises at closing. The bonus is that all of this at no cost to you. Please contact us today.

Sincerely,
John Smith
